A seductive taste.

Naturally, the secret of the best jams is no secret, but given by nature. It needs no more than first-class fruit and knowing how to process that fruit carefully, which has always been passed on and perfected at Darbo from generation to generation. And that's something you can taste too. Let yourself be seduced by the exquisite taste of Darbo.

The Founder

Francesco Lettieri has a passion for food. Born in Calabria and raised in Chicago, Francesco was surrounded by homemade Italian food growing up, and always had the dream of entering the gourmet food business. He moved to San Francisco in 1973 and opened a small sandwich shop, called Mr. Submarine in the Marina neighborhood. Mr. Submarine was a success and the business quickly grew to 7 locations. In 1986 he sold the chain, and in 1988 officially opened Lettieri & Co. Francesco's dream of importing finely crafted food and wine from Italy and around the world had been realized. Throughout the years, the company has grown in size and now carries over 75 lines of imported goods. His passion for food has not faded a bit. Francesco still travels the world, finding hidden culinary gems to bring to your retail store and food-service business.

The Future

Along the way, Francesco and his wife Nevenka had two sons, Antonio and Dino. Both sons have been learning the food importing and distribution business from an early age and are excited to continue to grow the family business. Dino's outgoing personality made him a natural fit for sales, and he is now the Director of Sales and Marketing at Lettieri & Co. Tony's knack for finding new and exciting products along with his broad based knowledge of the operations of the company lends itself perfectly to his position as Chief Operating Officer. With a solid base of well-established contacts around the world, and a new generation of Lettieri's poised to grow the business, the future looks bright for Lettieri & Co!

FIVE GENERATIONS. 100+ YEARS OF CRAFT.

Tempesta is the culmination of five generations of family artisans, working together to craft a delicious legacy. Father and son, Agostino and Antonio Fiasche now run the family owned Chicago salumeria rooted in a rich Calabrian legacy of making unapologetically authentic and inspired salumi. We invite you to taste our family's tradition.

*....AND DRIED

It was 1916 when Domenico Cocco started work at a pasta factory, and he was only 14 years old. Over the years, the work became a passion. The young lad learned the techniques and tricks of the art of pasta-making so quickly under the guidance of the senior master pasta-makers that he too was soon known as "Mastro Domenico". He devoted his life to this fascinating trade, guarding all its secrets coupled with the particular dry, windy climate of the place, which is perfect for the pasta drying process, are the two ingredients that mother nature has given Fara San Martino, and which make the pasta produced here unique. The precious ancient machines are still under the careful and scrupulous control of Cavaliere Giuseppe Cocco. He applies his unique experience to all the stages of the pasta-making process to ensure that all the protein value and nutrition remain intact, as well as the taste. The master pasta-maker pours the ground durum wheat into the kneading machine and very slowly adds the purest spring water until a firm, smooth dough is obtained. The dough is then passed through bronze moulds to give the pasta just the right slightly coarse texture that gets the sauce to cling and brings out its flavour. The coiling machine rolls the pasta out into sheets, and with its wooden rollers, like traditional rolling pins, draws it out to the desired thickness. The pasta has now taken shape and then the most difficult and delicate stage begins - drying the pasta at natural temperatures.

The quality of the pasta depends, among other things, on a very carefully controlled drying process, which also ensures the pasta's nutritional properties and its quality during the cooking process. This stage is entrusted to the experience and expertise of the master pasta-maker, who decides how the pasta should be arranged on the beechwood frames, how much air is needed and scrupulously watches over the driers. Proceeding by these methods, which are rigorously craftsman-like, means taking more time and space, and means producing pasta in smaller quantities. But it also means, above all, preserving the taste and flavour of pasta as it used to be in times gone by. And it is precisely this that interests Cavaliere Giuseppe Cocco, or Mastro Peppe, as he is called.

soon known as "Mastro Domenico". He devoted his life to this fascinating trade, guarding all its secrets until he eventually passed them on to his son Giuseppe, as his seniors had done with him. In 1944 Giuseppe Cocco took up his father's trade. He was really put to the test with the difficult task of searching through bomb-site rubble for machine parts used by former pasta-makers. The machines were reassembled and started up again. With this sort of machinery, and those memories and those secrets, Cavaliere Giuseppe Cocco today produces in the village of Fara San Martino the pasta of those times gone by - just as good as it used to be. The old master pasta-makers claimed that there were four ingredients to a good pasta: the grain, the water, the air and the workmanship. The excellent physical properties of the water of the River Verde (the Green River), which springs naturally from the mountains just here, Azienda Agricola Giusti focuses on the production of Modena Balsamic Vinegar, of which the parent company is a leader, but also of other vinegar-based condiments such as apple cider vinegars and sweet and sour condiments made from organic fresh fruits.
